Our Business Building Principle.

There's something more than the mere giving of a full round dollar's worth of merchandise for every dollar spent necessary to the permanent growth of a business now-a-days. Beyond its durability and service qualities merchandise must possess the power to please indefinitely, it must have character and individuality. Must get away from the commonplace and be in a class by itself. This principle was recognized by us long ago and has been carried out to such a marked degree that many who do not take the pains to undeceive themselves are influenced by an impression that Titus things must be a little more expensive than things to be found in some other stores. That is a compliment to our judgment and in a way is a reward for our painstaking and careful study of the markets; but it is also an injustice to us and to yourselves, for there's not a thing you'd like to have but can be had from this stock of superior merchandise at as little if not less than you would pay for commonplace things at many another store where the evident cheapness of things hints at the little price.

A Solid Mahogany Arm Chair.

One of 50 or more on our floor at this minute illustrates the point in question perfectly. Its dignity, its perfect details, its soft, dull finish all convey at once the impression of superiority—yet the price is no more than you'd be asked to pay for a very ordinary affair in the majority of stores.

SAM SCHEPPS NOT TO BE INDICTED.

Prisoner to be Held a Short Time for Vagrancy.

Becker and the Six Others Expected to Plead Thursday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Sam Schepps has secured full immunity from an indictment in the Rosenthal murder case. Before testifying before the grand jury, where he furnished corroboration to the confession of "Bald Jack" Rose, implicating Police Lieutenant Becker in the killing of Rosenthal, Schepps secured a written agreement from the district attorney's office that he was not to be indicted. This agreement was signed by Bernard Sandler, counsel for Schepps, and an assistant district attorney. When Schepps appeared before the grand jury he did not waive his immunity rights, as was done in the case of Rose, Vallon and Webber.

Schepps can be held only a short time on the vagrancy charge, but, as his counsel says Schepps feels it is safer to remain in the custody of the district attorney for the present. Schepps, however, demands that he be taken care of in a first-class hotel and his demand will be granted. As a state's witness Schepps proposes to live well.

District Attorney Whitman today conferred with Detective William J. Burns, going over plans for the graft investigation which is to be started by the grand jury. The word has gone out that Burns has supplied Whitman with startling information and this report is verified by a man in touch with the district attorney.

A John Doe inquiry is to be undertaken several weeks before the calling of the trials of those indicted for the murder. These preliminary proceedings before Supreme Court Justice Goff are expected to strengthen the cases against Police Lieutenant Becker and the six others indicted yesterday for the Rosenthal killing by unearthing new evidence of police corruption. The John Doe inquiry will cease during the murder trials, but will be resumed after they are concluded.

"Jack" Zelig, the East Side gang leader, was hurried here from Providence, where he was arrested last Thursday as a pickpocket, just in time to appear before the grand jury and strengthen the evidence in the possession of District Attorney Whitman in the police graft cases, a re-indictment of Police Lieutenant Becker was handed down, and true bills were found against six of the lieutenant's alleged tools, the four gun men who are accused of actually murdering Rosenthal, and two men who are alleged to have taken part in the plot.

Zelig's arrest in Providence, it was reported here was at the instigation of the New York police. This action was a surprise to District Attorney Whitman, who not only had the word of Zelig's counsel, former Magistrate Wahle, that he would produce his client whenever he was wanted, but also had in his possession the $10,000 bail bond. It was only by quick action on the part of Mr. Wahle that he was able to get Zelig here in time to give his testimony before the grand jury.

The men indicted today are "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie," who are still at large; "Dago Frank" Cirofici, and "Whitey" Lewis, now in the Tombs; Jack Sullivan, the former "King of the Newsboys," who is alleged to have given the "murder signal," and William Shapiro, driver o fthe "murder car."

Zelig, whose appearance before the grand jury came as a surprise, supported Rose's story. It was learned. The stories dovetailed chronologically, Zelig telling of happenings before the murder tending to show the alleged determination of Becker to get rid of Rosenthal, the gambler who "squealed" against him, and Schepps telling of events after the murder which pointed back to the police officer's alleged preparations to carry out his determination.

Becker and those indicted yesterday will be called to plead in court tomorrow. The grand jury also will have a brief session Thursday, after which it will adjourn 10 days. The grand jury will be asked to consider the testimony of "Big Jack" Zelig, who told of his arrest by two members of Becker's "strong arm" squad. The two detectives swore that they found a revolver on Zelig. Five witnesses testified before the grand jury that Zelig did not have a revolver when arrested. The grand jury may indict the two detectives for oppression and perjury. These men will be accused of placing a weapon in Zelig's pocket so as to make it appear that he was carrying concealed weapons.

"Bald Jack" Rose had previously told the grand jury that Zelig had been "framed" so that Becker might get Zelig under his power, Becker, Rose says, sent word to Zelig that he would have to furnish the men to kill Rosenthal or go to prison for a long term for carrying a revolver. Zelig says he furnished the men and that was all he had to do with the shooting of Rosenthal.

While the grand jury is taking a recess, evidence against certain police inspectors and those "higher up" will be sought. The grand jury was so pleased yesterday when they found that the vote to indict the seven men for the Rosenthal murder was unanimous that they applauded.

An investigation has been commended by Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick into the charges that aldermen accepted graft for licenses to newsdealers. The testimony was given that $400 is the regular price for the more prosperous stands and an election district captain swore that he had taken $800 for a news stand license.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

Foreign Astronomers to Witness it Near Rio Janeiro, October 10.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The total eclipse of the sun, which will be visible near Rio De Janeiro October 10 next, will be witnessed by eight parties of foreign astronomers from Europe and South America. American Ambassador Dudley has expressed to the State Department the hope that the American institutions will be represented.

TO THROW FORCE INTO NICARAGUA.

Marines to Protect Foreign Lives and Property.

Rush Orders for Cruiser California to Proceed to Panama.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Complete arrangements to throw a force of 2,000 bluejackets and marines into Nicaragua within 10 days to protect foreign lives and property and keep railroad communication open from the American legation in Managua to the Pacific coast, were made today by the Navy Department.

Secretary Meyer issued rush orders for the big armored cruiser California at San Diego, Cal., to proceed to Panama. Meanwhile transport Prairie has been ordered from the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard to Philadelphia, to take on board 750 marines and sail to Colon. This force will be sent over the Panama railroad to Panama and be taken on board cruiser California and rushed north to San Juan del Sur and Corinto.

These plans will bring the United States forces on the ships close by and already ashore in the revolution-swept republic to a little more than 2,000 men. Officials believe that number will be sufficient to protect Americans and their property and keep the railroad open. The line, which is American-owned, runs from Managua to Corinto. It has been in constant danger of interruption by the revolutionists.

BLUEJACKETS BEING LANDED.

Weitzel Asks for American Details at Corinto and San Juan Del Sur.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In addition to the marines and bluejackets ashore in Nicaragua from three American naval vessels, the Annapolis, Tacoma and Justin, American Minister Weitzel has asked for details at Corinto and at San Juan Del Sur, both on the west coast. It is necessary to hold these ports in order that communication may be maintained between the cable station and the American legation at Managua. Gunboat Denver, under rush orders, should arrive at Corinto Sunday. She will land about 150 bluejackets, bringing the total of the American force ashore up to 700 men.

FORCES USED ILLEGALLY.

Senator Bacon Demands Inquiry Into Action in Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Senator Bacon today asked the Senate to authorize its committee, now investigating whether recent revolutions in Cuba and Mexico had been promoted by Americans, to investigate the landing of marines and bluejackets in Nicaragua and report upon what authority the United States forces have been landed there. A resolution to that effect was referred to a committee to report upon the probable expense.

Senator Bacon scored the State Department for its attitude toward Nicaragua, declaring that "the executive departments of this government are now, in my judgment, violating the law by using the army and navy of the United States in Nicaragua." The Senator read newspaper despatches referring to an "American collector of customs in Nicaragua."

"When this matter is sifted to the bottom," he said, "we will find that this is the real reason for American interference there. Some time ago a treaty was negotiated between this country and Nicaragua, by means of which the United States government was to furnish agents with authority to collect the customs of that country, and to use the proceeds to pay certain loans to be made by American capitalists. The Senate thus far has refused to ratify that treaty, and, in my judgment, will not ratify it.

"I haven't the slightest doubt in the world that—with whose authority I do not know, but with some authority—there has been an effort to accomplish without law that for which they failed to secure law. They are trying to use the army and navy of the United States to accomplish that which we have specifically refused to give them authority to do. This is a proper subject for investigation by the Senate."

CHINANDEGA RE-CAPTURED.

Fighting Between Nicaraguan Forces and Revolutionaries Continuous.

CORINTO, Nicaragua, Aug. 20.—(Delayed in Transmission)—Fighting between the Nicaraguan government forces and the revolutionaries has been almost continuous since Sunday at Chinandega, about 10 miles from this port. The town was turned over to the rebels Sunday by the government troops. The latter today re-captured Chinandega after defeating the rebels.

KILLED AT RUMFORD RANGE.

Sergeant Romig of Fort Riley, Acting as Coach, Accidentally Shot.

EAST PROVIDENCE, Aug. 21.—Sergeant Evan Romig, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Riley, was shot and killed while acting as a coach for the Rhode Island National Guard at the Rumford range today. Chief of Police Everett W. Adams declared the fatality to have been purely accidental and Henry A. Duby of Pawtucket, who fired the shot, was not held. Romig was 42 years old and a member of the Sixth field artillery.

The accident occurred at the 25-yard revolver range, where the instructor was standing with several other men. Private Duby, after taking aim at the target, lost hold of his revolver, and in his efforts to recover it the gun was discharged. The shot entered Sergeant Romig's neck, causing almost instant death.

STEAMER REPORTED.

SALVATION ARMY FLAGS LOWERED.

General Booth Dies at Hadleywood in London.

Last Resting Place May be in Abney Park, Stoke Newington.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Out of respect for the memory of the late General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, who died at Hadleywood, a suburb of London, last evening, all the flags floating on Salvation Army headquarters throughout the country have been half-masted.

GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH.

At international headquarters in Queen Victoria street, in the centre of the city, a constant stream of messengers, bringing telegrams and letters of condolence from every part of the globe, flowed all day. Among those who sent messages of sympathy were prominent personages belonging to the government, the army, the navy and every branch of public life, while despatches were also received from kings and other royalties. Cablegrams were received from countries as diverse as Patagonia and Lapland. Major Perry of the Salvation Army said this morning that messages were coming from high and low, rich and poor, in all parts of the world.

Twelve weeks ago, General Booth underwent an operation for the removal of a cataract in his left eye. For two days after the operation indications justified the hope of the general's recovery. Then, however, septic poisoning set in and from that time, with the exception of occasional rallies, the patient's health steadily declined. The general recognized that the end was near and often spoke of his work as being finished.

Public interest now centres in the question of who will become the head of the great organization built up by General Booth. Under the constitution of the Salvation Army the general nominates his successor. General Booth complied with this provision several years ago, placing the name in a sealed envelope which was deposited with the Salvation Army's lawyers, with instructions that it should not be opened until after his death. While nobody knows what name the envelope encloses, the general belief among the members of the Salvation Army is that the name will prove to be that of Bramwell Booth, who for 30 years has been its chief of staff.

Almost the last words of General Booth were uttered just before he lost consciousness. He was referring to God's promises and, speaking with great difficulty, said: "They are sure—they are sure—if you will only believe."

The medical bulletins issued on the condition of General Booth did not reveal the gravity of his case, which is now admitted to have been hopeless for a week past and critical since a day or two after he submitted to the operation on his eyes, in the hope that his lost sight might be restored.

Throughout the commander-in-chief's illness his son Bramwell and Mrs. Bramwell Booth gave their unremitting attention to him. Present at the bedside when the end came were Mr. and Mrs. Bramwell Booth and their daughter and son, Adjutant Catherine Booth and Sergeant Bernard Booth; the general's youngest daughter, Commissioner Mrs. Booth-Bird, and Commissioner Howard, Colonel Kitching and Doctor Wardlaw Milne.

Where General Booth will be buried has not yet been decided. While every English member of the Salvation Army is convinced that no man was more worthy of interment in Westminster Abbey, it is not expected that that honor will be awarded by the Abbey authorities. It is the general belief that the commander-in-chief's last resting place will be beside that of his wife who, 21 years ago, was buried in Abney Park, Stoke Newington. The observances will include lying in state for a week in Congress Hall, Clapton, which will be followed by a big memorial service and a procession from London to Abney Park. Colonel Kitching said that up to Saturday General Booth showed solicitude for the work of the army. He inquired about the progress being made in America and in India, and especially about the welfare of the officer sent to China to report the possibility of commencing work there.

"We had not expected the end quite so soon," Colonel Kitching continued. "The general died very peacefully and quiet without the slightest struggle. His breathing simply became less and less until it ceased altogether. I think the operation may have accelerated death, but I do not believe it was the cause of his demise. I think perhaps the disappointment following the non-return of the general's sight was a greater strain upon him than the operation itself. He was buoyant until three weeks ago, when a decided Kansas Board Restrained from Certifying Nominees for Electors.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 20.—A temporary order restraining the state canvassing board from certifying to the secretary of state the names of the eight Roosevelt electors nominated at the recent Kansas Republican primary was filed late tonight with the clerk of the federal district court here. The order was granted by Judge Smith McPherson at Red Oak, Iowa.

TWENTY-THREE BULLSEYES.

Chesley of Connecticut Makes New Record at 1000 Yards.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Aug. 20.—Musician George Chesley of New Haven, Conn., a member of the Second company, Governor's Foot Guards of that state, broke a world's record today when he made 23 consecutive bullseyes at the 1000 yards range while competing in the annual shoot of the New England Military Rifle Association.

Chesley was entered in the Winchester individual match which was open to all comers. The match called for 15 shots at the 1000 yards range, slow fire. Chesley made a bullseye each time, winning the match, and was then allowed to continue for a record. On his twenty-fourth shot he fell off to a four. The men in this match were permitted to use telescope sights.

AS TO RECENT EXECUTION.

National Assembly Considers Explanation Unsatisfactory.

PEKIN, China, Aug. 20.—The National Assembly today considered the explanation of the government in regard to the execution of General Chang Chen Wu and General Feng Wei, members of Dr. Sun Yat Sen's party, who were summarily put to death a few days ago, and decided that it was unsatisfactory. The members of the Assembly demand the attendance of the premier and war minister tomorrow to give further explanations. The government apparently possesses proofs of the guilt of th executed generals and of the complicity of several high officials in the government service, in a secret society, for the overthrow of the government.

Electrical Display and Salad Supper Draw Many to Epworth League Lawn Party.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church was favored in having good weather Tuesday afternoon for the annual lawn party, in spite of the downpour of the morning. The affair was held at the church, the grounds being outlined and encircled by strands of the national colors extending from standards at the corners to a central arched entrance. Across the front red, white and blue bulbs were electrically lighted in the evening, and at the sides Japanese lanterns were suspended.

The large Sunday School room was used for the display of the articles on sale. Miss Lillie Smith and Miss Mary Irish were at the fancy articles and worsted booth, which was arranged the length of the room; the cake table was in charge of Mrs. George Irish and Mrs. Isaac Peabody, Mrs. Peabody also assisting Mrs. Elma M. Peckham at the home-made candy table in the smaller classroom. Mrs. Alden P. Barker presided at the apron booth in one of the adjoining Sunday School rooms. The auditorium was open and was decorated with white hydrangeas, as was also the mantel in the reception room, flowers being also extensively used on all the tables.

A salad supper, comprising chicken, potato and tomato salad s; cold tongue, rolls, cake and coffee was served from 6 to 9 o'clock. The seven tables were conducted by the following, who served the salads: Mrs. A. Herbert Ward, Mrs. Abram A. Brown, Mrs. William L. Brown, Mrs. Alden P. Barker, Mrs. Elma M. Peckham, Miss Sadie E. Peckham, Mrs. Ida M. Brown, Miss Mary Smith. These were assisted in groups of two by Misses Etta and Eleanor Brown, Ivah, Elsie and Mildred Peckham, May Ward, Amy Barker, Cora Smith and Ethel Cummings. Mrs. William J. Peckham was in charge of the tea and coffee, Mrs. Walter S. Barker of the cake, and Mrs. John H. Peckham of the salads. Mrs. Mary W. Lawton, president of the Ladies' Aid and superintendent of the social department of the League, had the care of the general arrangements.

The outdoor decorations were conducted by Rev. E. E. Wells, the pastor, assisted by his guest, Rev. W. M. Newton of Woonsocket, and by Mr. Walter G. Taylor who arranged the electrical effect. Messrs. George Wyatt, William Smith and Willard Brigham, and Misses Ivah and Dorothy A. Peckham acted as assistants. The electrical display was now at this church and was a pleasing innovation. During the progress of supper and through the evening until 10 o'clock the Ladies' Euphonia orchestra (of six pieces) from Fall River, rendered an excellent program of music.

Many guests were present from out of town, among them a former pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Clayton E. Delamater, of Fall River. There was a good attendance and as satisfactory sum will be realized by the League.

Mr. James Taber is excavating for a cellar in the lot between his present house and Wapping road, with the intention of moving him present dwelling and building a second cottage. Not long after the work had been commenced the cellar walls of a former tenant, Herbert Peckham, were reached, which will somewhat retard the work. The three sides of the cellar wall and a part of the fourth side had been built by Mr. Peckham with the intention of putting up a house, but his plans changed suddenly and the walls were buried, just as they stood. This was in the neighborhood of 40 years ago. Mr. Peckham is now living in California. The present Taber property was formerly his and he lived in the cottage.

Mr. Karl M. Stone of New York, formerly of Newport, has joined his wife and family, who are spending the summer with Mrs. Stone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton C. Barker, on Turner's road, and will spend his vacation here. Mr. George Klapthor, who accompanied Mr. Stone, returned to New York Monday.

Miss Phebe E. Thurston has returned from a visit to her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Thurston, in Providence.

Miss Eliza M. Peckham is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Higgins of Providence at "Seven Pines."

Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley and their children, of New York and Brooklyn, are visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wallace Peckham.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Farnum have as guest their son's wife, Mrs Joseph Eldridge Farnum, and her son James, of Peru, Vt.

DUPLICATE OF KRUPP TOWN.

Pittsburgh Company to Develop Industrial Community at Midland on Lines of Essen.

One of the most beautiful industrial towns in America is to be built a short distance from Pittsburgh and within two weeks contracts will be awarded for the initial work of the undertaking. The Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Company has closed negotiations for the purchase of the entire remaining holdings of the Midland Steel Company at Midland, Pa., consisting of 465 acres of undeveloped land. In planning for the development of the town the steel company had competitive designs prepared from architects of many cities, but finally settled upon the work of Albert H. Spohr, formerly of McClure & Spahr, as most suitable.

Following out the lines in a general way of Essen, Germany, where the great Krupp steel works are located, the Pittsburgh company will have the town site of Midland on the opposite side of the street railway tracks from the furnace and new mills laid out with curved, paved boulevards, and broken with beautiful parks and flower beds, without a single straight street on the entire site. Facing these boulevards will be modern homes for the men who will work in the new mills now building. The plans for the houses call for individuality in design, no two being alike, and each having all modern arrangements. The houses will be surrounded by lawns with plenty of space in front for decoration with flowers and plant life. The company will also establish parks and recreation grounds and a race track.

Schools will be established, and through a purchase of what is known as the "Christler Farm" on the hill overlooking the present town site, wooded land is available for natural parks and picnic grounds, as well as sites for homes for mill officials. All told, there is about 500 acres of land to be developed on this scale, and it will have no counterpart in America.

The steel company will not be able to take all the present built-up section of Midland into this new plan, as there are 2,000 people living there now under original conditions that are common in industrial communities. A portion of that old section of the town, however, that the company takes over will be at once rebuilt and contracts will soon be awarded for the first 50 houses. The company proposes to encourage the workmen to buy their homes and become permanent residents of Midland. A filtration plant is to be added to the water works system and this plant has already been ordered. The accommodations possible in this new town will be for 10,000 people, and within the next year it is confidently believed that 31,000 will be living there. By January 1 the steel works will be in operation and a large force of men will be employed.

Newport Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Newport citizen:

W. H. Ackers, 7 Farewell St., Newport, R. I., says: "My kidneys were weak and the kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and contained sediment. There were pains through my sides and loins and I felt badly in every way. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store, and I was soon free from kidney complaint."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Ackers had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Your Opportunity

To enter the world of business fitted to take hold of even a subordinate position demands special training. This we give and more. Situated at Providence, with its Grand Trunk Railroad Terminal, numerous factories, railroad offices, the steamships plying between this port and Europe, this school supplies these industries with stenographers, bookkeepers, accountants, secretaries and other competent workers. We assist our graduates to good positions.

Success

Our graduates are making splendid records in business everywhere. Write today for booklet, "Words From Those Who Know." It is paid them to acquire our training—they have made a success in the business world as a result of this training—it is reasonable to assume that what we have done for them we can do for you. Will you write for this book? Today?

Reasons

It differs from most other business schools, its courses prepare young people to become not simply bookkeepers and stenographers, but gives them the general education that will enable them to put science to more important positions and eventually become the business leaders of the future. Careful attention paid to the selection of boarding accommodations for non-residents.

For booklet and "Record of Successes" write to HARRY LOEB JACOBS, Principal

MAKES A GOOD STAND.

J. S. Brown, Jr., Beaten by R. D. Little in the Second Round of the Tennis Tournament.

The second and third rounds in the national lawn tennis tournament were concluded Tuesday with the exception of one match, which is held open because of Bundy's illness. During the last two days the committee has been successful in completing three rounds, reducing the number of players from 158, the original entry, to 33, a remarkable record for quick playing. There have been an unusually small number of defaults, the players being kept up to the limit, and all the courts being in use during the two days, well toward dusk.

In the matches Tuesday another Newport player, J. S. Brown, Jr., was eliminated, having been beaten easily by R. D. Little. Brown made a creditable stand against a player of long experience and international reputation. Craig Biddle, a Newport summer resident, still remains in the tournament, having won in straight sets from R. S. Maynard. He will meet M. S. Charlock in the fourth round.

There were several long, hard-fought matches in the day's play, but nothing like an upset. G. P. Gardner, Jr., had difficulty in winning from A. T. Man, Jr., the Yale champion, the match going to four sets. Karl H. Behr won straight from Alfred D. Hammett of Pelham Manor, but the play was close, the younger man pushing his older opponent to 8-6 in one set and 6-4 in another. Several matches required five sets, that between M. T. Whiting and J. A. Williams consisting of 71 games, one set going to 12-10 and another to 13-11.

The result of Tuesday's matches is as follows:

Second Round.

W. Rosenbaum beat W. D. Bourne, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6.
R. D. Little beat J. S. Brown, Jr., 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.
W. L. Pate beat H. R. Boyer, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

ACTIVE FOR TAFT AT NINETY-FIVE.

William J. Price, the oldest member of the Philadelphia bar, celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday by gathering around him numerous younger members of the bar and advising them to cast their vote for President Taft at the next election. "In politics, gentlemen," said Mr. Price, as he sat in the same office that he has occupied for 70 years, "I am an independent, and I will show my independence this year by voting for President Taft. I will not be bulldozed by a lot of alleged reformers whose skin is so thin that their ambitions are apparent."

EGYPTIAN FUNERAL BOATS.

Small Models Found in Tombs of the Ancients of Four Thousand Years Ago.

[Christian Herald.]

Sometimes the tombs of the ancient Egyptians of 4,000 years ago are found to contain, along with the mummies and treasures and furnishings, a little model of a boat. More frequently on the inner surface of the coffin the picture of a boat was painted.

The dead of the ancient Egyptians were always buried to the west of the Nile, on the edge of the valley. Somewhere in the far west, it was believed, were the happy isles of the dead. Thither the sun god went each evening, and thence he sailed beneath the earth to reappear in the east the next morning. There the Egyptian believed he would go after death. At the time of the burial, the dead, who were to the east of the Nile, were transported across the river in a special funeral boat laden with the mummy and all that was to be buried with it, whatever the soul, or the ka, might need in the hereafter. At the base of the pyramid of Sesotris III., of the twelfth dynasty, were found buried in the sand five large, well-preserved boats made from the cedars of Lebanon. It is only in a country like Egypt, where the sand and the air are dry, that wood has survived such a great age. One of the boats, now in the Field Museum in Chicago, is 30 feet long, eight feet wide and four feet deep.

However, the chief purpose of the boat was to serve the soul after death. The "happy isles" of the dead could be reached only by crossing the great waters, and for this a boat was necessary. There was a boatman named Turnface, because he poled his boat while looking backward, who ferried souls across, but he would receive only the righteous—only those of whom it could be said, "He hath done no evil." A boast commonly engraved on the Egyptian tomb to persuade the ferryman Turnface of the righteousness of the soul confined there is: "I gave bread to the hungry, water to the thirsty, clothing to the naked, and a ferryboat to the boatless." Sometimes those who possessed no boat were transported across the waters by the hawk or the ibis, or friendly souls might be persuaded to provide a boat for them, or they might accompany the sun god on his journey. The boatless, however, might wait long before reaching the "happy isles," and so a boat, all provided with oarsmen and provisions for the voyage, was buried with the mummy of painted on the coffin.

THE PHONE AND THE HYMN.

[Lippincott's.]

An admiring parishioner of a young divine in an Ohio town recently had a telephone installed in the clergyman's house. The good man was delighted with the convenience, and used it immediately before going to church.

When the time came for him to announce the first hymn, he read the first lines with his usual impressiveness, and concluded with: "Let us all unite in hymn seven O three."

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

WHO HAS PROSECUTED THE TRUSTS?

Under seven and a half years of President Roosevelt 44 cases, 25 criminal and 19 civil, were begun against trusts. In three and a half years of President Taft 66 suits have been begun, 39 criminal and 27 civil. During Roosevelt's two terms only four important cases were begun and concluded. Two of these were against the Beef trust and were failures, one was against the Licorice trust and the other against the Northern Securities Company.

The Taft administration has prosecuted to a conclusion nearly all the cases left unfinished by the Roosevelt administration and has begun many more suits than its predecessor did. The distribution of assets of the Standard Oil Company, which Roosevelt stigmatizes as a mere make-believe, was effected upon precisely the same lines as the distribution of the assets of the Northern Securities Company, effected under direction of Roosevelt's Attorney General.

Sometimes it seems as though the public were deliberately insincere in its attitude toward the trusts, but if it be really hostile to them it certainly ought not to reject Taft, who has shown great energy in applying the Sherman law, and support Roosevelt, under whom so much less was accomplished and who does not now tell what he would do to the combinations if he were President. He charges the trusts with supporting the President, though his own chief supporters are prominent in the Steel and Harvester trusts, and he says that the trusts are anxious for control by the states rather than by the national government, while he is for the latter. As to this, President Taft has strongly urged a national incorporation law; as to the attitude of the trusts toward state and national regulation, George W. Perkins says they are in favor of national regulation:

"There is scarcely a corporation manager of today who is alive to his responsibilities, to the future growth of the country and to the enormous opportunities before us for foreign trade, who would not welcome this kind of supervision could he but feel it would come from a national government, acting through an intelligent and fair-minded official; but to be faced with the requirement to report to and be supervised and regulated by 40 or more state governments, with varying ideas and laws, suggests difficulties that are almost insurmountable obstacles."

That does not leave any doubt that the industrial combinations would far rather have national than state regulation. Yet the states which wish to bar out trusts have proved that they can do so, and those which like trusts ought to be allowed to have them.

INVESTMENT VALUES.

Some of our esteemed financial contemporaries are wondering what makes the investor demand larger returns. This is manifested in the decline in the selling prices of bonds and preferred shares and in the higher rates of interest which municipalities and railroad and industrial corporations are forced to pay for loans. There is much curiosity to know why the investor is no longer content with the three or four per cent which he was receiving a few years ago, and the surmise is hazarded that the high cost of living compels him to seek a larger income and to ask more for the use of his money.

The investor would secure the best return he could for his money even if the cost of living went down, and the cost of living might go up without bestowing on him any power to increase his income. The fact is that it is not he who is raising the rate of interest or decreasing the price which will be paid for a security yielding four per cent. The people who are driving up the rate of interest, or who are driving down the prices of bonds and preferred shares, are the borrowers. They are doing it by bidding against each other for capital, and by competition raising the prices which will be paid for it.

Some of the financiers who have been interviewed recognize this clearly and speak of the enormous flotations of securities. The railroads and industrials, the general business of making and selling goods, are expanding all the time and demanding money by billions. The new capital sought in the East by railroads and industrials is running between one and two billions a year, a vast sum is required every year for increasing the business of mills and stores, cities are borrowing on a prodigious scale, and the conductors of these enterprises are bidding against each other for every dollar which comes into the investment market. There are two dangers in this. One is that borrowers will offer more than they can really afford, and the other that lenders will run undue risks in order to secure from 5½ to 7½ per cent on their money. Serious financial disturbances have sometimes resulted from both causes, which are simply the opposite sides of the same thing.

THE PROBLEM OF AGRICULTURE.

The expense attendant upon the agricultural industry has greatly increased in this country of late and among many other causes has had its effect upon the high cost of living, but that is only incidental to the situation. The special and most important change probable in farming methods is not to be by some process by which the cost of operations can be reduced, but some way by which the productivity of the soil can be enhanced. Agricultural experts and experiment stations in connection with colleges devoted to the teaching of farming methods are at work on that subject all over the country and are already making progress in that direction, so that the influence of what they are doing can be seen in some aspects, and they will continue to devote themselves to the solution of this problem and the discovery of some method by which the soil can be made to produce much more than it does now. Some countries indeed are far in advance of this in respect to the productivity of the soil and we are watching them and steering our course along the path which they have followed, in order to reap the same good results.

The agriculturists of the country have it entirely within their power to meet the demand for products of the soil and will not need to work very hard to accomplish that result. The experts must find new ways to increase the size of crops and the number which can be raised upon a given piece of land, and others must adopt the new methods as they are presented and make the discoveries count in the raising of produce. In other words, agriculture must become in this country more a science and a profession than it has been. It must be conducted on strictly scientific principles without regard to traditions and former methods and must be pursued as a regular business and not in a hap-hazard sort of way, as though it were a pastime rather than a serious occupation. Under existing conditions and with the present outlook farming is and is to be one of the most important pursuits in this country and one on which in a large measure all others depend, and this must be realized by those who are engaged in it.

CIGARETTE SMOKING.

Is the cigarette habit increasing in this country? The question is raised because the internal revenue officers have found a marked increase in the number sold during the past year. Probably the condition to which they call attention is not to be disputed, but it does not necessarily follow that the habit is gaining ground, since other causes for the increased use of these "smokes" can be given.

In the first place, there is every year a large increase in the population by immigration, and it is doubtless true that a good proportion of these newcomers are already addicted to the cigarette-smoking habit. Most foreigners are users of tobacco, and generally in its cheaper forms, so that a large portion of the increase in the consumption of cigarettes can safely be ascribed to that cause. The high cost of living can also be blamed for some of the added use of this form of tobacco, as cigarettes are cheaper than cigars and not a few men have given up the latter and adopted the former in their place.

There is still another probable cause of the increased consumption of these articles which is not to be ignored, however much one would like to do so—the growing use of them by women. Some may say this is so small as to be negligible, but that is an assertion based more on what those who make it would like to believe than on fact. There is indeed no question that the use of cigarettes by women is quite considerable and that the habit is growing to such a degree that this demand must be considered in estimating the extent to which the people are addicted to cigarette smoking.

In this respect there is no doubt that the habit is increasing, but aside from that there is no evidence that there is an abnormal growth, but only a natural increase because of an enlargement of the cigarette-smoking population, aided by a change from cigars by many owing to the high cost of living, and the addition of women to the body of consumers.

Though the naval appropriation bill, which is now in the hands of the chief executive for his approval, provides for only one battleship, President Taft is expected to sign it. Secretary Meyer has philosophically accepted the one-battleship program and has already decided to name the vessel provided by the bill the Pennsylvania, the present armored cruiser of that name to be called the Harrisburg. Secretary Meyer says that, notwithstanding all talk in Congress about "a terror of the seas," the new vessel will be of normal development, and if she is larger than any battleship afloat, it will be no more than could be said of every one of the big ships launched since he has been at the head of the navy in accordance with the harmonious system of development which the naval constructors have consistently followed for years.

George R. Sheldon, who was treasurer of the national Republican committee four years ago and has again accepted the responsibilities of that position for the present campaign says: "Had a united party been opposed to the Democratic party, I should not have again assumed this office, but an attack, not from without, but from within, has been made upon the Republican party with the animus to destroy it. I believe, therefore, that it is the duty of every Republican to resist this attack upon the integrity of the party and upon our national institutions." So it is.

As the Senate has blocked the passage of the resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution to limit the tenure of office of the President to one term of six years, it is not expected that the matter will reach a vote at this session. The insurgent Republicans are responsible for the delay.

The friends of a steadily increasing navy are already planning to start at the beginning of the next session of Congress a movement for three battleships, and it is believed that the Democrats will be more generally in favor of a liberal program next year.

General William Booth, leader of the Salvation Army, was a great man. He labored zealously and constantly, and always lovingly, for humanity's sake.

Congress really expects to adjourn Saturday.

THE TARIFF.

[Life.]

We are informed that the tariff is to be the chief issue in the present campaign. Good! It is a splendid issue. It has excellent traditions behind it. It is respectable. It belongs to one of the first families.

But—and this is important—let not the politicians and the editors spoil it all by undertaking to explain. The tariff is the issue. That is enough, for just as soon as we try to lay open the intricacies of Schedule K of Schedules A, E, I, O, U, and sometimes W and Y, we are lost. Such efforts merely start arguments and lead nowhere.

NO SYMPATHY FOR BECKER.

According to John Morrissey, a Minneapolis police detective, who has just returned from New York, the rank and file of the New York police department have no sympathy for Lieutenant Becker. "Many of the detectives and captains told me that they had feared for years that Becker would get the department into trouble. While scores are sorry he is arrested, many are glad. The rank and file of the department appeared as anxious to have it free from graft and suspicion as any bunch of men in the country."

THE LOOT OF MOSCOW.

Czar Nicholas Orders the Recovery of Priceless Treasures Carried Off by Napoleon.

[Marquise de Fontenoy.]

Emperor Nicholas has just given orders for the beginning of a piece of work which cannot but excite the most extraordinary interest both here and in Europe. It is singularly appropriate that this enterprise should be begun this fall, as just 100 years will then have elapsed since the treasure of the Imperial Palace of the Kremlin, of the churches, the monasteries and the palaces of the great nobles at Moscow, which had been carried off by Napoleon and his grande armee, when the city burst into flames, were lost in their greater part beneath the cracking ice of the Beresina.

These treasures filled innumerable wagons, even those that should have been devoted to the transport of the sick and wounded being ruthlessly pressed into service, as well as the caissons of the artillery. Of course, the knapsacks of the soldiers, the traveling carriages of the great dignitaries of the imperial entourage, and the saddle rolls of the cavalry were filled to overflowing with loot. Every reader of history will recall how, when the retreating grande armee reached the banks of the Beresina, it was found that the Russians had burned the bridge, the piles of which may still be seen at very low water.

Immediately the French engineer and pontoon corps were set to work to construct new ones, under the personal direction of the emperor, who watched the work day and night, encouraging the men laboring half naked in the broken water and hindering floating ice. One of these bridges, opposite the village of Belly, was reserved for the infantry; the other, a little lower down, on a level with the village of Stoudienka, was for the cavalry and wagon trains, and the isbas of the two villages were destroyed to get the wooden beams required for their construction.

Napoleon was one of the first to cross and thus escaped the terrible panic which ensued on the same afternoon and following day, when, pressed by the relentless Cossack cavalry and mown down by Russian guns from the low hills behind, the grande armee lost all semblance of order. The rut and "sauve qui peut" which then began—cavalry, artillery, treasure wagons, infantry, all attempting to crowd upon the narrow bridges at the same time—has been described by pen and brush many a time, but quite inadequately. For under such a weight and attacked on all sides, first one bridge gave way, precipitating thousands into the terrible Beresina, while all who were trapped on the eastern bank piled pell-mell on the remaining bridge, which yielded too, the number of lost being estimated altogether at 20,000.

In 1813 an attempt was made to recover some of the treasure, but before it had been in progress more than a few days it was learned that the noncommissioned officers and men employed there were selling to the neighboring land owners all sorts of costly objects, many of them being church vessels, crosses and icons, at mere nominal prices. Work was immediately stopped, naturally, and the culprits punished.

Two years later a flotilla of those narrow log rafts, in which timber is conveyed down the Beresina, became stranded owing to unaccountable banks of mud just where the loot of the grande armee had disappeared. Before the river had resumed its normal level the rafts, which to avoid the shallows have only a depth of a couple of feet at the most, had been caught and had become firmly imbedded in the mud, and sank deeper and deeper with the passage of time.

Today it appears that they form a sort of broken timber mattress over the lost treasures of Moscow, concealed in its turn by heavy deposits of mud and of sand. In 1896 the government, at the instance of Grand Duke Nicholas-Nicolaivitch, who owns some property in the district, set a dredge to work, but while it brought to the surface a quantity of small valuable objects and of bones, it was unable really to penetrate the new interwoven mattress of deep sunken wood filaments. The matter was then referred to a commission, presided over by the grand duke. Things, however, move slowly in Russia. Besides, there have been internal insurrections, the war with Japan and other matters to occupy the attention of the authorities, so it is only recently that the commission presented its report to the emperor, explaining at great length the means devised by engineers for removing the obstruction and recovering all that lies beneath. Czar Nicholas, immensely interested, has given orders that the work shall begin with as little delay as possible, and the operations are to be started in the course of the present month.

Naturally the undertaking arouses nowhere so much interest as in Moscow, whose ecclesiastical authorities hope to regain priceless altar furniture and historic objects long since deemed irrevocably lost.

NEW CHAMPIONS IN DOUBLES.

McLoughlin and Bundy Take the Title from Little and Touchard.

California Challengers Out-Play the Holders at All Points.

Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy, the California players, won the national championship in doubles at the Casino this morning, defeating Raymond D. Little and Gustave F. Touchard, who last year took the title for the first time. It required four sets to decide the issue, the former champions winning the first, 7-5, and the challengers taking the next three, at 6-2, 6-1, and 7-5. It was good tennis the greater part of the time and occasionally the play was of the best, brilliant and long continued rallies calling out the hearty applause of the spectators.

There was a championship attendance, both stands being filled and the other sides of the court having as many rows of spectators as could find room and opportunity to see the court, quite a number having only an occasional glimpse of the match. There were fully 2,000 persons in the crowd.

Touchard started the service and won his opponents scoring but one point. The second game also went to the champions, on McLoughlin's service, mainly on Bundy's errors. Little won his service on nets and outs, by the challengers, a love game. On Bundy's service the Californians improved and by fine work at the net Bundy won his game, after deuce had been called once. Touchard again won on his service, and the wins alternated until in the ninth Touchard won the sixth game for his team and the set. The play up to this time had been largely a feeling out of opponents Bundy and McLoughlin were not sure of their game and made many errors, interspersed with an occasional place. The points were as follows:

Little and Touchard
4 5 4 3 4 2 4 2 6—34—6

McLoughlin and Bundy
1 3 0 5 1 4 1 4 4—23—3

In the second set the Californians struck their stride and played more brilliantly. It was evident that McLoughlin was saving Bundy all he could, but the latter played a fine game, making some excellent place strokes. He was not so sure as usual and made many outs and nets. Little played the better for the champions, Touchard being the weak member of the team. Three of the games went to deuce, which was called six times in one of them, Bundy and McLoughlin won largely on their placing, having many more earned strokes to their credit than did Little and Touchard. The points:

McLoughlin and Bundy
4 8 4 1 4 4 6 9—40—6

Little and Touchard
1 10 1 4 0 1 4 7—28—3

In the third set Touchard weakened materially and the Californians played their strokes at him as much as possible. He, however, made some brilliant returns and Little played his usual steady game, with many places to his credit. McLoughlin and Bundy were everywhere and made some remarkable returns, their placing being hard and accurate. Little and Touchard took the first game after deuce had been called twice, then McLoughlin and Bundy won on Little's service, 9-7 and continued their inning to the end of the set, taking five games straight, four of them at 15 an done a deuce game. The points follow:

McLoughlin and Bundy
4 9 4 4 4 5 4—34—6

Little and Touchard
6 7 1 1 1 3 1—20—1

After the customary rest of 10 minutes the players returned apparently refreshed and started with a rush. Little and Touchard, the latter especially, seemed to have benefitted most. They took the first game on Little's service, Bundy won on his service and Touchard followed suit. McLoughlin lost his service and the score was 3-1 in the champions' favor, all four games having been won at 15. In the next the score went to deuce once and the Californians won. During the next four it alternated until Little and Touchard had the lead, 6-4. McLoughlin and Bundy tied the score in the next game, at love, and then won out the vantage and deciding games with little trouble. There were many pretty rallies, and in one in particular the ball was sent across the net many times on short volleys, until McLoughlin saw an opening and lobbed the ball over Little's head. By points:

McLoughlin and Bundy
4 1 1 1 5 4 1 4 4 4 4—37—7.

Little and Touchard
4 1 4 4 3 1 4 2 6 0 1 1—31—5.

The Pacific coast men outplayed the New Yorkers both on service and in returns, McLoughlin was very strong. Throughout the match the defenders of the title made Bundy the mark for nearly all their returns, but he stood up gamely and towards the last was almost as strong as McLoughlin in placing returns. Little was the better of the holders of the title, being very steady and seemingly to restrain the erratic work of his partner. Touchard showed less brilliancy than in the contest of last year and the match would have been a straight-set affair for the Westerners had not Little played such a conservative game.

The national championship in doubles goes to the Pacific coast this year for the first time in history, although in 1896 C. B. and S. R. Neel carried it as far as Chicago. Twice it went to England, but since 1901 it has been held in the Eastern section of the country.

While the doubles was in progress several of the fourth-round matches in singles were decided, and one at least furnished an upset in the calculations. G. P. Gardner, Jr., won quite unexpectedly from N. W. Niles, victor in the Southampton tournament last week, though it required five hard-contested sets to determine the result. Niles won the first, then lost two, each at 6-4; won the third at 6-1, but was unable to pull out, Gardner taking the deciding set at 6-3. F. C. Inman was also unexpectedly defeated by A. S. Dabney, one of the Massachusetts champions. This match also went to five sets. A third five-set match was that between G. M. Church and C. S. Cutting, Church winning.

Wallace F. Johnson won easily from J. R. Carpenter, Jr., Clothier beat Gardner Beals, being hard pushed in the second set, and C. S. Rogers had no difficulty in beating C. T. Porter.

The other matches in the fourth round will be played this afternoon, with the Bundy-Tate match in the third. It is hoped to be able to clean up the fourth round before night. The summary of the play of the morning is as follows:

Doubles Championship, Challenge Round.

M. E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy (Challengers) beat R. D. Little and G. F. Touchard (Holders), 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

W. J. Clothier beat Gardner Beals, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

G. P. Gardner, Jr., beat N. W. Niles, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

G. M. Church beat C. S. Cutting, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

C. S. Rogers beat C. T. Porter, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

W. F. Johnson beat J. R. Carpenter, Jr., 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

A. S. Dabney beat F. C. Inman, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Mrs. Marsden J. Perry was wearing today a handsome gown of Irish lace and a purple hat with purple aigrettes; Miss Margaret Busk wore a tan linen suit and an ecru hat with pink roses; Mrs. George Grenville Merrill's cafe au lait pongee gown was worn with a large Leghorn hat edged with black straw and trimmed with dark red and pink roses. Mrs. Roderick Terry looked well in a coat suit of gray silk with trimmings of black satin and a black hat with shaded gray plumes; Mrs. C. L. Best wore a white embroidered batiste with a black lace shawl and a white hat with white wings; Miss Edith Deacon's white linen gown was worn with a black Neapolitan hat with black ribbon. Miss Edith Wetmore wore a pale blue linen suit with a tan hat with grasses for trimmings.

Mrs. James O. Kernochan was wearing a coat suit with trimmings of black and a black and blue straw hat; Mrs. Newton Adams wore a gown of black messaline with a collar of old gold and a large black hat with white wings; Mrs. George B. DeForest had a gown of black crepe meteor with collar and cuffs of white and a small black hat with a black maline bow; Mrs. Robert Goelet wore a simple gown of champagne mull with a girdle of brown ribbon and a striking ecru hat with yellow daisies and navy blue velvet streamers. Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden over a white linen suit wore a black and white striped coat and her white outing hat was worn with a varicolored scarf; Mrs. Reginald Norman wore a king blue messaline gown and a blue hat with blue aigrettes, while her sister, Miss Alice Little, was wearing a black and white striped silk and a black hat with white tips; Mrs. Vanderbilt's braided white voile suit was worn with a small black hat with white satin ribbon and white aigrettes.

SCHOONER TAY STARTS FOR PROVIDENCE.

Tug S. Thomas Brown arrived this afternoon, hooked on to schooner R. L. Tay at the City wharf, pulled her out of the mud and started to tow her to Providence. Both vessel and cargo have been sold in that city. It is the general opinion that the Tay has her deck broken and may be no good when the cargo comes out. She is the schooner abandoned off Point Judith and brought here by cutter Acushnet.

—Dr. Farnum's automobile was wrecked by fire on Green End avenue Tuesday afternoon, a back fire being responsible. No one was injured, but the chauffeur and other occupants were unable to extinguish the flames.

—Mr. Mallinerodt's launch Polyana is being fitted out at Williams & Manchester's. The engine has been in St. Louis for experimental purposes. The Polyana is a Herreshoff-built boat and looks like a goer. Mr. U. F. Sullivan's cat Falconita and the big power boat Mingoree are also hauled out at Williams & Manchester's.

—At a mortgagee's foreclosure sale, conducted by Auctioneer Eugene C. O'Neill in front of the court house this morning, a tract of land in Jamestown, a part of the holding of A. O.D. Taylor, deceased, was sold to Miss Susan J. Weaver, the mortgagee, for $300. She was represented by Mr. Charles H. Roehne, Jr., and hers was the only bid.

—It may not seem as if the weather conditions warranted it this morning, but this was somewhat of an excursion day. The Warwick brought 1,800, the New Shoreham 750 and the Mount Hope 700. Steamer City of Lowell will come tomorrow from New London with the second excursion of the season. It will reach here, if on time, at 1:30, and leave at 4 p. m.

Jane, North Wind, Esperanza, South Wind and Edenia.

—Workmen Tuesday began the demolition of the two old dwellings on Long wharf, formerly owned by the late Captain John Mahoney and recently purchased from the railroad company by Armour & Co. This is the first step toward the construction of the new brick building which Armour & Co. are to erect to replace the meat house on Bridge street and the railroad.

—As an evidence of the fact, that certain summer visitors are working hard to boom Newport this year, and that some of them believe that making polo is one of the ways in which interest is awakened, one needs only to go to the vicinity of Bath road and Bellevue avenue on any day when polo is to be played, where there is strung across the Avenue a great white banner announcing "Polo Today."

—At the police station this morning an insane woman was sent to the state hospital. The soldier, Donald M. Flint, arrested near the postoffice Monday, is still at the station, though the United States marshal was expected to take him Tuesday. He has acknowledged that he is the right man and that he was engaged in the break for which the postoffice authorities wanted him.

WIN IN THE WAR GAME.

Third and Fourth Divisions With Fourth Group of Destroyers.

Enemy Evades Home Fleet and Makes Hampton Roads Before Its Progress is Stayed.

Admiral Walslow, commanding the Second squadron, Atlantic fleet, comprising the Third and Fourth divisions with the Fourth group of torpedo boat destroyers, won in the war game. Acting as the enemy, his ships evaded the home fleet, and made Hampton Roads before they could be intercepted by a sufficient force to stay their progress.

The enemy left Rockland, Mass., some time Saturday morning, while it was nearly noon when the home fleet left here. It would seem as if the attacking force just swept around the defending fleet by a wide detour before the scouts sent out from here could sweep the seas and pick them up in time to permit the battleships to come up and offer interference.

Th First group of destroyers put out to sea with the First and Second Divisions of battleships from here, while the Second and Third groups shot up through Vineyard sound. At the eastern entrance these two groups met the enemy's group, and as the result of the simulated engagement which took place the Third group of the home fleet and the enemy's group were both put out of action and consequently returned to port. This left the home fleet with two groups of scouts, but this availed nothing, for the big ships had passed by.

This is the way the game appears to have ended, taken from the point of view of unofficial observers, who have not had the opportunity to compare their notes with various other observers, distributed on all the vessels, as the official observers were.

The boundary of the battle ground was defined as from Cape Ann on the Massachusetts coast to Cape Hatteras on the Virginia coast, and the whole broad ocean to seaward.

The torpedo boat destroyers are expected to be here until next Tuesday, when they will go out for preliminary engineering competition, then returning here. A week from Monday, when the submarines have completed their torpedo practice at Provincetown, the destroyers will go to that range for the same purpose and about September 7, when the battleships have completed their target work, the boats will sail from here for these grounds for their gunnery practice.

The new destroyer Jouett sailed for Boston at 5 p. m. Tuesday. She is assigned to what is to be the Fifth group when all the new boats are out and ready for duty.

The Fanning, one of the other new boats, is engaged in making trial runs in Long Island sound, having left here this morning.

THREE BEACH CAR TERMINALS.

People Going Out Broadway Often Fail to Take the Right Car, Despite the Signs.

The heavy travel to the beach this year and the poor arrangement of the trackage for his accommodation have necessitated some changes in the running of the cars and the application of some traffic ideas which have not been worked quite so extensively heretofore. The conditions have necessitated the running of cars only so far as the regular travel demands, and thus there are three terminals for those leaving the beach—Franklin street, Everett street and One Mile Corner—the latter being marked Broadway.

While each car is distinctly marked the public persist in taking the first car they see, which is likely to stop short of the place to which they wish to go. Then they "kick" against the company for not giving the service required, though the officials know by the watch the starters keep on the travel that generally there is more accommodation than is required for the more distant terminals.

PROSPECT OF SOME CRICKET PLAY.

It looks now as if there would be a revival of interest in cricket here this summer, Secretary Hunt and others of the Newport Cricket Club have again secured permission for use of the large lot opposite "Marble House," which has been used in the past, and an effort will be made to bring enough players out some day this week for a practice game. There are one or two cups which may be played for, including one offered several years ago by Mr. Pembroke Jones, to be competed for annually by the married and the single men. There are already a number of handsome cups in possession of the club, showing their prowess in years past, among them one offered by the Old Home Week committee in 1905, which the Newport club won by defeating Fall River, and another given by the Newport Elks.

A JAMESTOWN AND NEW SHOREHAM DIRECTORY.

Jamestown and New Shoreham now have the distinction of a Directory, the first having just made its appearance. It will be issued every three years, according to the announcement of the publisher, the C. DeWitt White Company of Providence. It contains the usual information as to house, business and street; also town officers, churches and similar matter. The list of summer residents in many cases also carries the winter addresses of visitors. The exterior is emblazoned in gold with advertisements of Newport firms exclusively, while these are in preponderance within. All the towns in Newport county are now supplied with directories.

COOL AND DAMP IN THE SAND.

But the Fireworks Were Worth Seeing and There Was a Big Crowd at the Beach.

Some in the coats, wraps and sweaters of winter, and some in the gauzy near-nothing clothing of summer, a large crowd gathered at the beach Tuesday evening to see the fireworks and listen to the band. It was cool and damp and the sand, saturated by the rain and wet, offered no inviting place for sitters. Accordingly those who took their point of vantage on the sand were obliged to stand, while the board walk was crowded.

It was far from the kind of night one ordinarily selects for an evening at the beach, but that seemed to make no difference, as the car company found early in the evening, when the riding showed a tendency to improve that it has not manifested for days. It really seemed as if the beach was coming back into the popularity it enjoyed before the weather threw a shroud upon it.

The fireworks were worth the visit, for there was a fine showing of Italian pieces with gorgeous colorings and novel combinations. The rain of the morning made no difference to them, for it did not require long to set them up and they had been kept in a dry place until late in the day. The display and the band were both at the eastern section and the crowd centered there. Still, as on previous occasions, the dance hall and merry-go-round had patronage throughout the progress of the outdoor attraction.

The photograph gallery is at last in running order, being manned by a crew experienced in electric light work, and while some alterations are now in progress by the carpenters and there has not been a good day to try the place there has been a good business during the few days it has been running. A number of new signs have been painted about the beach the past week, making it more convenient for visitors to find places for which they are looking.

Hall Trees Save a Lot of Work.

A Hall Tree saves infinite steps because it stands at the logical place where hats and wraps are removed and put on.

The chief objection to Hall Trees on the part of a good many people is that they frequently are not in harmony in design with the other furniture of the room.

The special interest for you in the Hall Trees we now have on display is their artistic design, their simplicity and their perfect adaptation for the purposes for which they have been made.

DUNKIRK WELCOMES PREMIER.

Poincare Returns From a Successful Mission to Russia.

DUNKIRK, France, Aug. 21.—Premier Raymond Poincare was welcomed like a victorious general when he landed here today from French armored cruiser Conde, on his return from his successful mission to Russia. The town was decorated with flags and all the inhabitants turned out to cheer the premier.

At a luncheon given in his honor by the mayor at the town hall, the premier made a brief speech in which he declared that his visit to Russia had resulted in a complete understanding in regard to the common action to be taken by France and Russia to meet all eventualities likely to arise out of European complications, either at the present time or in the future. This united action, he concluded, had been immensely strengthened by the support which Great Britain was giving to French and Russian aims.

JOHANN M. SCHELYER.

Inventor of the Artificial Language Volapuk Dies at Constance.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Private cables received here announce the death at Constance, Switzerland, of Johann M. Schelyer, inventor of the artificial language, volapuk. He was 74 years old. Schleyer was a German Catholic priest. In 1879 he published his first prospectus of volapuk, which he hoped was to combine the merits of all modern languages, and eventually take their place. His theory was to exclude all those sounds and quantities which made universal adoption difficult.

RUSH WORK IN CLOSING DAYS.

Members "Talked Out" and Congress Getting Ready for Wind-Up.

Both Houses Have Been Playing Politics—Rivalry Between Underwood and Fitzgerald.

[Washington Correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Congress gives a demonstration at the close of every session of its ability to get down to business and push business to a conclusion. There finally comes a time when Senators are "talked out," and House members are willing to compromise on subjects in dispute in various appropriation bills as in ther measures. From an apparent hopeless deadlock one day there will be a series of agreements and concessions which clear the legislative atmosphere and pave the way for closing the session.

The second session of the Sixty-second Congress has been very long, and it has not been one of much accomplishment. Both parties have been playing politics, which was natural in a Presidential year and many measures have been advocated and have passed one House or another with little hope of ever becoming laws. Several measures have been sent to the President which men behind them did not believe would meet his approval; hence a number of vetoes. It is not going too far to say that those vetoes were as satisfactory to the opponents of the President as if he had approved them.

One of the leftovers, with little hope of passage in the short session, is the Kenyon-Sanders bill, the Tennessee Senator's name having been attached by reason of an added section to the Kenyon bill, which was prepared by Sanders. The Iowa Senator has been trying to get consideration of his bill which will prohibit the shipment of liquors into prohibition states, but without success. For years this bill has been before Congress in some form but it never seems to get through both houses of Congress.

Decidedly interesting were several divisions in the House when former Speaker Cannon and Leader Underwood were in accord and opposed to Minority Leader Mann and Chairman Fitzgerald. It happened that Speaker Clark believed with Cannon and Underwood, and that settled the question against Mann and Fitzgerald.

Generally speaking, it would be assumed that Mann and Fitzgerald are the best practical parliamentarians in the House, although Olmsted of Pennsylvania and Gardner of Massachusetts are considered very able men in the same line. Asher Hinds of Maine is the best theoretical parliamentarian in the House. He took no part in the recent division, as he has been kept from the House by illness.

Although Underwood and Fitzgerald have worked together as chairmen of the two big committees of the House and Mann and Cannon have apparently been in accord on general Republican policies, it would seem from several minor differences that entire harmony does not exist between the two leading Democrats and the two leading Republicans.

Ex-Speaker Cannon has not had a very prominent part in the affairs on the Republican side, while Mann has been very prominent. On the Democratic side the differences have not been so marked, but it is quite well understood that the rivalry has been keen at times.

Theron Akin may be a one-term member, as several men have frequently told him, but this energetic New Yorker has made himself known in the House. He has several times forced the House to "expunge" from the Record his "leave to print" remarks, which in itself is something. Akin has been in a constant turmoil with one or more departments of the government since he has been here and has gained notoriety by reason of it and what he has printed about them.

Men who know the active part which A. Mitchell Palmer took in the nomination of Governor Wilson are of the opinion that the vigorus Congressman from Pennsylvania is very likely to be a member of the Wilson cabinet if the Democrats are successful. Palmer was one of the reform leaders in the House and won against the old machine in Pennsylvania. He is now the leader f the party in that state. Speaking of Wilson's cabinet, William J. Bryan was spoken of as the next secretary of state as soon as Wilson went across at Baltimore.

It was Congressman Burleson who recently fattened the pages of the Congressional Record by printing a dozen or more speeches of Governor Wilson. Every topic and every address recently delivered by the New Jersey governor, whether political or simply welcoming some delegation to New Jersey, was included. The voters are to have lots of Wilson during this campaign.

TO PROBATE WILL AGAIN.

Birth of Astor Heir Makes Action for Full Title and Special Guardian Necessary.

With the birth of a son to Mrs. John Jacob Astor, it is learned, it will be necessary for the executors of the estate to offer the will of Colonel Astor again for probate, in order to comply with the clause providing for a bequest of $3,000,000 to any posthumous heir. This, it is stated, is required in order to allow the executors of the will to carry out its provisions and to give a full title in case any of the property is disposed of. The offer will probably be made within a few weeks.

It also will be necessary, it is learned, for the surrogate to name a special guardian for the infant, other than that of his mother and Judge Henry A. Gildersleeve. "It would not be proper for me to officiate in that respect," said Judge Gildersleeve. "The interests of the mother and child might be conflicting under the law, and it is obvious that I could not serve.

"As for any statement that the will may be contested, I can say that Mrs. Astor is more than satisfied with its provisions, and there is not the slightest contemplation of taking any action. Of course, I cannot say what the guardian of the infant, when he is appointed, will do, but I am sure there is no intention of bringing any action at the present time."

A TROTTING OSTRICH.

Hurricane, the fastest trotting ostrich in the world, who established his right to the record recently at Jacksonville, Fla., is among the ostriches at an amusement place near New York. Attached to a sulky buggy, Hurricane, covering the ground in strides of from 12 to 15 feet, has defeated all contestants. Hurricane stands nearly 10 feet high and weighs 400 pounds.

HOLDERS TAX THEMSELVES.

The Passaic Commission Wins Big Profit from Property Owners.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 21.—The city commission, which went into office here a year ago, has won a handsome profit for the city by practically permitting large property owners to tax themselves. Insisting that the values on the tax rolls in previous years had been too low, the commission this year asked the mill owners to furnish inventories of their own property. In most cases the owners gave estimates greatly in advance of the figures at which their property had been previously assessed. One company voluntarily raised its assessment from $600,000 to $1,500,000. The net gain obtained by this method over the assessment figures of 1911 was $5,300,000.

TO AID THE CAMPAIGN.

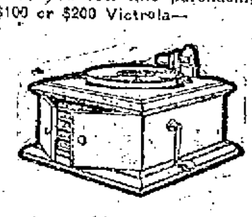

Governor Foss Off for a Two Days' Stumping Trip in Vermont.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Governor Foss left Boston today for a two days' stumping trip in Vermont, to aid the Democratic campaign in his native state. He planned to make his first speech at Wilmington, a few miles north of Hoosac mountain, and in the evening he intended to speak at Brattleboro.

GOOD-BY, ECZEMA!

New Discovery That Stops Itching at Once and Soon Heals All Sores.

There are many kinds of eczema, and the new antiseptic, Renovo, will cure them all except one rare form. In order that people suffering with that variety may not spend their money uselessly, this remedy is sold on the money back plan, and your druggist will refund the price paid for Renovo if it does not cure.

There is no other remedy that is as valuable as Renovo in healing and curing the different kinds of eczema, salt rheum, and all other skin diseases, even old ulcers and sores yielding to its antiseptic and curative powers.

Get a three inch tube of Renovo for 50c. from Hall & Lyon Co. and see how quickly you can bid good bye to eczema, pimples or any other skin trouble you may have. It stops the itching and irritation almost instantly, and soon kills the poison germs in the skin, and makes it clear, soft and free from blemish.

ECZEMA FROM TEETHING

"When my little girl was about eight months old, she was taken with a very irritating breaking out, which came on her face, neck and back. When she first came down with it, it came in little watery-like festers under her eyes, and on her chin, then after a few days it would dry down in scaly, white scales. In the daytime she was quite worrysome and would dig and scratch her face nearly all the time.

"I consulted our physician and found she was suffering from eczema, which he said came from her teething. I used the ointment he gave me and without any relief at all. Then I wrote for a book on Cuticura, and purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drugstore. I did as I found directions in the Cuticura Booklet, and when she was one year old, she was entirely cured. Now she is three years and four months, and she has never been troubled with eczema since she was cured by the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Freeman Craver, 311 Lewis St., Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1911. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to "Cuticura," Dept. KK, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

SENATE SUSTAINS THE PRESIDENT.

Fails to Pass Legislative Bill the Second Time.

House Adopts Measure After It Had Been Again Vetoed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Taft again today vetoed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, because it still carried an amendment to abolish the commerce court, which the House and Senate insisted upon including in the reframed measure. The provision to limit the tenure of office of civil service employes to seven years, which was an additional reason for the President's first disapproval, had not been included in the bill a second time.

Within an hour after President Taft had for the second time vetoed the bill the House re-passed it, 164 to 53, over his veto. It then went to the Senate.

The bill failed of re-passage in the Senate over President Taft's veto. The motion to re-pass the measure received 34 votes to 37 in the negative, but the two thirds necessary to override the veto was 41.

AGAIN CHOICE OF REPUBLICANS.

Vice President Sherman Formally Notified of His Nomination

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Vice President James S. Sherman, the first man to be twice nominated by the Republican party for the office he now holds, was formally notified at his home here today that he was again the choice of a Republican national convention.

"This distinction was not sought by me," said the Vice President after Senator Sutherland of Utah had delivered the speech of notification, "but unsolicited" he continued, "it is the more appreciated. I cannot but recognize your message as a mandate I must obey."

The ceremony was held in Roscoe Conkling Park. Mr. Sherman was escorted to the park by a procession and the city gave up the day to holiday-making in honor of the occasion. In his speech accepting the nomination the Vice President declared that his party was fortunate "in the fact that our opponents are divided into two camps."

"The new party," he said, "thrusts itself forward into the vacuum left by the phantoms of other third parties which have passed into oblivion. Oblivion, too awaits it."

Of Governor Wilson he said: "The Democratic candidate is Bryan and Parker over again without the oratory of the one or the legal training of the other, but with the free trade prejudices of both seemingly intensified." Governor Wilson, he said, "was a pedagogue, not a statesman."

About 20 members of the committee on notification were present, headed by United States Senator Sutherland of Utah, the chairman. They were escorted to the Sherman residence by thousands of citizens massed in different organizations, and headed by bands and military companies. The parade was an imposing one, moving like a street gaily decorated and lined with multitude of people.

Mr. Sherman has been ill for some weeks, but has been steadily improving for the last fortnight and was quite fit to undertake the demands of the day.

BASKET BALL MISSING.

Police Department of the Mary Street Playground Turn Sleuths in Hunt for Their Property.

The police department of the Mary Street playground has a theft case on its hands which is requiring the combined efforts of the force. In fact, every member of the self-governing staff has turned sleuth in an effort to trace a piece of playground property; to wit, one basket ball, which it is suspected some boys stole, a few days ago. The boys want the ball back very much and besides reporting the matter to Inspector Tobin have been doing some investigation on their own part, with the result that they have a pretty good idea where the ball disappeared to. The suspected culprits, however, stoutly deny the theft, and the young sleuths are still working on the case in hopes of rounding up the guilty ones.

FISH NOTES.

Small Shipment Owing to Activity Which Almost Ends the Herring, or Sardine Catch.

The rush of fishermen seems to have put almost an end to the herring, or sardine, fishery. There are so many boats around and so many seines are being dragged through the water, and everybody seems to be doing things in such a manner as to queer the business, so that Tuesday night only 14 barrels were shipped to New York. Of these Jim Ryan's workers had the lion's share, 11 barrels.

It looks as though the fishermen should either disband or spread out. There must be many places where these herring can be caught, but the original gang went fishing right at the fish dock, so that they had the shortest possible haul and all the others have persisted in using the same congested waters.

These herring have put many easy dollars in the pockets of local fishermen. If it were not for the scarcity of other fish and the high price of meat they would not be looked at, but under conditions existing today they find a ready market in New York and at no time has the market been glutted. Those who have eaten the fish say they taste all right. In former years they have been caught with scoop nets along the harbor, but this summer they have been caught by the barrel in seines and even a regular fishing steamer has gone after them.

Mr. Herbert Brownell has sold his fishing steamer Rover and his seine gear to the American Fisheries Company, and she will go into the pogy business.

John Suza has been heard from after about three weeks, during which he was supposed to be farming because no fish were caught. He had some weakfish this morning. C. A. Easterbrooks also had a few weaks, just a sample of what might be.

BUFFALOES INCREASING.

Lieutenant Colonel Brett, commanding Yellowstone National Park, has reported to Secretary of the Interior Fisher that his men have seen more buffaloes in the wild herd in the park recently than for 10 years previously. They counted 48 buffaloes, he said, and all of them appeared to be in fine condition. The tame herd, which is kept in an enclosure in the park, now numbers 14. Nearly one half the buffaloes in the United States are in the Yellowstone.

NOT A PERSONAL QUARREL.

Ballington Booth's Differences With His Father Related to the Work.

PATCHOGUE, Long Island, Aug. 21.—An immediate member of the family of General Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, authorized the following statement today regarding the death of General Booth:

"General Ballington Booth deplores any reference being made at this sad time to the estrangement between himself and his father, which arose purely on matters of government and principle 17 years ago. He prefers to be silent, save to say that he has always treated his father with the deference and duty due a great man. His eldest sister and second brother are also out of the movement and he has no knowledge of any effort having been made towards reconciliation. This is no personal quarrel, but a matter of difference in works.

"He would have gone to his sister, Eva, but when he and his brother Herbert attempted to offer their sympathy at the time of Mrs. Booth Tucker's death they were met with rebuff. He has sought to avoid this public appearance of disagreement. His sympathy has been written with affectionate solicitude to his brother, Bramwell Booth, in England."

10—The only feature of prominence at the opening of today's irregular stock market was the further heaviness of Canadian Pacific, which soon declined a point. Elsewhere in the active list there were some fractional gains, with a sprinkling of losses.

11—Speculation was later more evenly divided between the railroads and the specialties, many of which recorded advances. Smelting, Biscuit and Snuff rose a point, with 4 1-2 for Pullman.

Noon—Smelting, Steel and Amalgamated, in the order named, were strongest of the market leaders today with dealings largest in Steel. Business was more diversified in the sense that it comprehended many railway issues, as well as specialties. The coalers, Harriman and Hill stocks showed underlying strength with no marked change, but Canadian inclined to reaction. Tobacco stocks, such as Liggett and Myers, Lorillard and Snuff were up 1 to 3 points. Pullman was easily the feature of the equipment group, gaining almost five points. Bonds were irregular. Money on call, steady at 2½ per cent; prime mercantile paper 5 to 5½ per cent. Exchanges, $287,083,530; balances, $18,252,377.

NOT AGAINST THE CATHOLICS.

Action of the Prohibition State Convention Not to be Interpreted in That Way.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

It seems to us that the article in The News Monday, headed "Against Catholic Church," gives an unfair impression of what was done at the state convention of the Prohibition party in Providence Saturday. It was neither the purpose nor the result of that convention to oppose the Catholic Church or any other church; and yet that head-line and the article that followed it might easily give such an impression to many readers.

In every convention there are likely to be a few men who will say and do things which are not endorsed by others, and from the account it appears plainly that there was a heated discussion and long opposition to the measure advocated by Mr. Jeffrey. A careful reading of the account shows that one man (and he the extremist who advocated the measure,) made the statement that the Roman Catholic Church is opposed to American institutions, and the article speaks of a "plank directed against" that church. The account then goes on to say that the plank favors "the perpetual separation of church and state," and opposes the use of public moneys for sectarian purposes. It neglects to say that another member of the convention, Mr. McPherson, had more to say against the plank than its mover had to say in its favor.

Anybody must be decidedly lacking in information who does not know that many of the most forceful advocates of Prohibition have been, and are, clergymen or laymen in the Roman Catholic Church; and everybody knows that in every department of American institutions adherents of that faith are trusted and efficient workers. Coming down to local history, it cannot be overlooked that for many years some of Newport's honored Catholic citizens have been prominent and valued members of the Prohibition party. Naturally, their fellow-members here object, decidedly, to the appearance in public print of anything which does not do them justice. The very list of officers chosen at the convention shows that the party trusts and honors its Catholic members, and the broad scope of the party's platform shows that it is not one in which religious differences are to be made prominent. It would be decidedly a step backward, in this day and generation, to do otherwise than to seek by every proper means to unite all who are willing to work for the uplift and purification of the community, and especially those who agree with us as to Temperance work.

Newport, Aug. 21, 1912. B.

ARTISTS AND LITERARY PERSONS AS DINNER GUESTS.

To the Editor of The News:

Admiral Chadwick's article, "In Defense of Newport," has been read with much interest. But the admiral seems to be greatly mistaken in his point of view, that the creators of literature, art and science are not seen at American dinner tables. It may be that it is not yet exactly felt here, as in Europe, that their presence is necessary to make the party considered distinguished and interesting. But why should a person who is gifted in either of these ways, who has spent many years and thousands of dollars on his cultivation, afterwards beautifying the world and making it interesting with the result, not be appreciated there, even if it be outside his own home, where he himself may have been the host for greater and smaller spirits? As long as we appreciate their works, and artists give liberally to beneficent institutions or for private purposes, and we have any understanding of moral laws, we also like to see them at our dinner parties. If not, it cannot be considered snobbishness, but on the contrary must be for other reasons. For example, if the artist happen to be younger, more slender, more handsome or charming than the man, or especially the lady, who owes them this appreciation but who fearing the comparison feels, for the sake of vanity, that it is wiser to exclude them.

AT THE CHAUFFEURS' BALL.

The Newport chauffeurs and their friends had a pleasant time Tuesday evening, when a large company gathered in Masonic hall for their annual ball. The dancing began at 9 o'clock or shortly after. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mittnick leading the grand march, but it was necessarily quite late before the crowd really arrived many of the drivers being on duty. Many employers, as usual, were considerate enough to let their drivers off early.

There were no special decorations but the platform was adorned with a handsome array of large palms. The evening was cool and particularly comfortable for dancing. McCloskey's orchestra played. At 12 o'clock a buffet supper was served. The committee in charge were M. Buckley, president; J. Kelley, vice president; F. McIowan, H. Miller, T. Owens, D. Eldridge and F. Massey.

NEWPORT FULL OF PEOPLE.

Things seem to be at the apex of congestion of population just now. The arrivals by the Wickford line Saturday night and Monday night were both record-breakers for size. Apparently the city, already crowded as it has not been before, is more crowded the past few days. It is a great season for people, and everything points to a prosperous business for all, even if some do all their buying in New York.

NEW NAVY PERSONNEL POLICY.

Assignment Sheet for Young Officers Up to 1925 Prepared.

Secretary Meyer's Scheme Designed to Give More Opportunities for Fleet Command.

Seeking the most effective utilization of the navy's personnel in the higher grades, Secretary of the Navy Meyer has put into effect a new policy. A comprehensive scheme of assignments of officers of the grades of captain and rear admiral has been worked out as far in the future as 1925. Only by preparing this future assignment sheet with the number of officers available and the billets to be filled was it possible to approximate the length of service in important posts.

The assignment of captains and rear admirals is made by the Secretary on the advice and recommendation of the aides for operation, material and personnel meeting in council. Secretary Meyer regards this as one of the most important duties of the aides. Officers of lower rank than captain still are assigned by the bureau of navigation.

In the new scheme all commandants of the larger navy yards will have at least three to four years' service in such posts, and officers now holding these billets will remain until they have completed that amount of service. The policy depends, naturally, on the concurrence of Secretary Meyer's successors in office. Through deaths, retirements before 62 years of age and other circumstances the assignment sheet will be modified from time to time.

The departmental policy now is to place the chief command of the large fleets and the divisions composing them in the hands of comparatively young flag officers, who, after serving afloat, can be ordered to the General Board and to important shore stations, where their experience in command will be valuable in assuring efficient co-operation with the fleet. At the end of about six years' operation of the new policy it is expected that there will be ashore at all times at least 12 officers who have had valuable experience in divisional and fleet command at sea. This reserve strength will be imperatively needed in time of war.

Hitherto fleet command has not usually been attained until just prior to retirement, with the result that the valuable experience gained by a fleet commander was soon lost to the service. The officers now being commissioned as captains will have eight or nine years in that grade. That will require that they make at least two full cruises of two years each as captains. The assignment sheet is considered a confidential document.

FOR LAWN TENNIS PLAYERS.

Ball at the Casino Theatre Preceded by Large Number of Dinners Early in the Evening.

The annual entertainment given by the Newport summer residents for the lawn tennis players in the national tournament took place Tuesday evening. Last summer a vaudeville performance was provided, but this time it was decided to return to the custom of former years and a ball was arranged by a committee and was given in the Casino Theatre. The patronesses were Mrs. L. Livingston Beekman, Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan, Mrs. Richard Stevens, Mrs. French Vanderbilt, Mrs. Barger Wallach, Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor.

There was no attempt at decorating the theatre, but the piazzas were enclosed, illuminated with Japanese lanterns and made attractive with rugs and cosy furniture. Supper was served on the upper balcony. A large number of dinners were given early in the evening, the guests going to the Casino for the dance. Music was furnished by Conrad's orchestra.

Previous to the players' ball dinners were given by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at "The Breakers," by Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rives, Mrs. Clarence Peil and Mrs. Stanley McCormick at their cottages; by Commodore and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James on the Alva, and by Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg, Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, Mrs. Arthur S. Burden, Mrs. Barger Wallach and Messrs. Williams P. Burden and Robert D. Wrenn, at Bergers', Surgeon R. A. Bachmann, U. S. N., also entertained at Bergers'.

Mrs. Joseph H. Willard gave a luncheon at her residence, "Fair Haven," on Catherine street, for young women, the guests including Miss Katherine Prescott Lawrence, Miss Margaret F. Andrews, Miss Elsie Stevens, Miss Eugenie M. Ladenburg, Miss LeBrun Parsons, Miss Tatlen Turnbull, Miss Alice Drexel, Miss Elizabeth Sands and Misses Roberta and Natalie Willard. The tables were decorted with American Beauty roses.

Luncheons were also given by Mrs. J. J. Brown at the Muenchinger-King and by Mrs. George B. DeForest, Mrs. Craig Biddle, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Dudley Davis and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson at their cottages. Mrs Henry S. Redmond gave a children's party on board steam yacht Margaret.

This afternoon Mrs. August Belmont gave a lawn party at "Bythesea," and Miss Martha C. Codman an "at home" at her residence, "Berkeley Villa."

NEWPORT MAY BE TOO LATE.

Delay in Negotiations for New Rink May Keep City Out of the Polo League.

Manager Sorcire of the roller skating rink has been in New Haven for a meeting of the Empire State polo league, the Columbia Amusement Company, which runs the rink here, having plans to lease the Auditorium rink at Waterbury, Conn. It is proposed to admit a polo team from Waterbury in the league in place of the Troy team, but there will be a final meeting September 8. Newport might also secure a place in this league but for the fact that the city does not have a suitable rink. The company is negotiating with a local property owner for such a structure, but the meetings are so infrequent that there is fear that the construction of the rink will be too long delayed to permit going into this league.

At the local rink this evening the "sparkler party" will be the first in a series of novelties, and there is expected to be a large crowd.

SHORE DINNER AT THE BEACH.

Royal Arcanum Members and Friends Enjoy Special Menu and Other Attractions.

The members of Coronet Council, Royal Arcanum, and friends, to the number of 150, gathered at Easton's Beach Tuesday evening for a special shore dinner arranged by the entertainment committee. There were no formalities, and all had full opportunity to enjoy the excellent menu and service provided by the Newport Beach Company.

The party occupied the entire east section of the restaurant, being seated at small tables. At a larger table in the centre of the hall Regent Thomas R. Tanner entertained Regent Grinnell of Pocasset Council of Pawtucket and Vice Council Knowles of Conanicut Council of Jamestown. Grand Regent John H. French and Grand Secretary John S. Kellogg were expected to be present, but were unable to attend.

A special menu was provided by the beach management as follows:

Newport Beach Chowder
Olives, Celery, Pickles
Bakes Bluefish with Old-Fashioned Sauce
Steamed Clams with Melted Butter
Clam Fritters
Baked Easton's Sausage
Sweet Potatoes Green Corn
Island Potatoes
Cold Boiled Lobster
Rhode Island Brown Bread with Raisins
Berry Pie, with Ice Cream
Iced Watermelon
Demi Tasse

The committee in charge of the entertainment consisted of Regent Tanner and Messrs. W. H. Honnen, Ira W. Wilbor, Jr., John P. Peckham, E. G. Bloom, Gustavus Helgerson and John R. Austin. James Cassim, a member of the Council, had charge of the seating arrangements.

A new Royal Arcanum flag of blue, white and purple, bearing the insignia of the order, was displayed for the first time, adding to the usual decorations of the hall.

After the dinner members of the party scattered about the beach to enjoy the band concert, fireworks and other attractions.

"THE MERRY COUNTESS."

Commodore and Mrs. Vanderbilt to Have Latest New York Attraction Given at "Beaulieu."

Commodore and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who 10 years ago almost to the day, August 25, 1902, brought from New York the entire production and company presenting "The Wild Rose" and had it given on the lawn at "Beaulieu," will duplicate their action for the entertainment which they will give at the same place next Friday evening, August 23, by bringing here "The Merry Countess," the latest New York attraction. "The Merry Countess" is an adaptation of Johann Strauss's operetta, "Die Fledermaus," which was given its premier at the Casino Theatre in New York Tuesday evening. Mr. Vanderbilt was in the audience and after the first act decided to engage the entire production to come to Newport, and at once made arrangements with Manager Shubert.

The entire cast, scenery and accessories will be brought, the members of the company will be provided for here, and Saturday morning Mr. Vanderbilt will pay for a special train to take them to New York, in order that the matinee and evening performances may be given as usual. The operetta will be produced in a temporary theatre which has been erected on the lawn at "Beaulieu."

In the company which came to Newport 10 years ago for the production of "The Wild Rose" were Eddie Foy, the well known comedian; Marie Cahill and Irene Bentley, in leading parts. Evelyn Nesbit, later the wife of Harry K. Thaw, was a member of the chorus.

ST. JOSEPH'S FAIR AWARDS.

Among the prizes awarded on the second evening of St. Joseph's fair were boxes of candy to Mary Johnson, 20 Mill street, and Mary Dumphy, Equality Park; bow tie, Mary Lee, Clinton avenue; armlets, Father McLoughlin of St. Joseph's, and handkerchief and glove box to Mrs. A. P. Jennings, Powel avenue. The attendance was good and promises to increase as the week advances. Various local Catholic organizations are planning to attend on different evenings, beginning this evening, when the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No 2, will be present.

MRS. SANBORN'S "AT HOME."

Mrs. John P. Sanborn, regent of William Ellery Chapter, Daughters American Revolution, gave an "at home" Tuesday afternoon. A large number of members were present, with the regents of Bristol Chapter Mrs. Dixon and of Colonel William Barton Chapter, Mrs. R. Wallace Peckham, and Mrs. John A. Greenman, historian of Colonel Barton Chapter.

Mrs. Sanborn received her guests in the drawing room, assisted by Mrs. T. Fred Kaull, the vice regent. A United States Flag was festooned at the double doors, separating this from the music room, when the Leon Smith orchestra of four pieces played continuously. Mrs. Lawrence C. Goffe and Mrs. Eugene Brown served salads, rolls and a variety of fancy sweets and bonbons from the dining room, where Mrs. Harry A. Titus and Mrs. J. Alton Barker poured coffee. Mrs. Alvah H. Sanborn served ices in the library, Mrs. Parker Braman and Miss Etta M. Peckham assisting.

DEATH OF MRS. DANIEL D. SHEEHAN.

Mrs. Daniel D. Sheehan, who died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Burns, on Mt. Vernon street, was one of the old-time members of St. Joseph's Church. She leaves a large family of children and grandchildren, which made her acquainted in a wide circle about Newport. Born in County Kerry, Ireland, the deceased on her arrival in this country, took up her home with her daughter, where she had resided since. Her husband died many years ago and was not known here. Mrs. Sheehan leaves four daughters and three sons—Mrs. John Burns, Mrs. Michael Dwyer, Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, Miss Margaret Sheehan, Daniel, Paul and John Sheehan.

THE NEW REPAIR SHOPS SHEARS

Work is steadily progressing on the plant for the new shears at the repair shops. For some time the concrete for the foundation of the engine house has been under way. This has been finished and the hoisting engine and hoisting gear are now being placed in position by a lighter. When this is in and power is on the hoister will be ready to assist in the elevation of the big legs of the derrick. A lighter will aid in hoisting those from the ground, and then the engine will add its power to that of the lighter in lifting them into place. When the shears are in position another picture will need to be made of that part of the city, for the characteristics will be changed.

TEN GOALS TO HIS CREDIT.

Scoring Ability of Mr. Agassiz Prominent Feature of Polo Match.

Perroquets, Excelling in Team Work, Beat Point Judith Giants. for the Thorn Cup.

The prominent feature of the polo match Tuesday was the scoring ability shown by Mr. Agassiz. One of his old-time admirers, who had not seen him play for some time, thought he did not show his former vim, but he somehow continued to poke the ball through that part of the field which counted until he had 10 goals chalked up to his credit. Accuracy of direction and a good understanding of what was going to happen of course were prominent factors in bringing about this result. Mr. Agassiz did not seem to be hustling very fast at times, but he did his hustling when it counted.

It was the second match for the Thorn challenge cup, the contending forces being the Perroquets and Point Judith Giants. The Perroquets lost one of their number, Mr. Joshua Crane, through illness and Mr. Norman Prince was substituted. This made the Perroquets a Prince-ly team, for it included Mr. Frederick H. Prince and his two sons, F. H., Jr., and Norman. The boys were obliged to hustle some to keep the pace set by their father, who was in the game from start to finish. The Giants were also one player short. Mr. A. J. A. Devereux was on hand but his ponies were not, and so he did not play, Mr. Craddock taking his place.

The Perroquets excelled in team play and won, 13¾ to 7. They allowed three goals, but had made this up before the second period was ended and thereafter things were coming their way. It was not because the Giants did not play, but because the Perroquets had the team work. While Mr. Balding did yeoman service in both offense and defense and was ably assisted by Mr. Craddock, and both hit long and accurately, they did not have the co-operative aid which the Perroquets gave each other. Mr. Prince could be heard from time to time calling upon his players to place themselves to do team work and not to shine as stars, and they were ever ready to fall into line, for it was the game and not individual glory for which they were striving. It was because of this team work that Mr. Agassiz was given the chances he had to count, and because he was quick to see the openings when they came and to poke the ball with accuracy and the skill of long experience.

There were few failures at goal tries. Generally the ball was turned before it reached the end and there were some close calls on both sides, where the defense went into action just before the ball crossed the line and turned it the other way. Some pretty shots were made and some long ones, and generally the play was good.

The grounds were in perfect condition. Mr. Prince said he had never seen a field in better form for play, and the ponies showed this by doing good work.

Among those present were several old-time admirers of the game, who had not for a long time been seen on the field, and they seemed to be as much interested as ever. The faces of the players, with the exception of Mr. Agassiz, were strange to them; perhaps the game had "fined" some and they missed some of the old points, but they liked the riding and hitting just as of yore.

A new face was introduced to the Newport public when Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., in the third period took up the work of refereeing. Old-timers remembered when his father was one of the bright stars of the polo world and played on the old polo lot. The son promises to be one of the best of the young players. He has been practicing some and has all the marks of a first-class player.

There was one mishap, in the last period. Mr. William A. Hazard was trying for a score the ball rolling close to the north goal. His pony struck and knocked over one post, and shied so that Mr. Hazard was thrown. He landed on his head, but made a regular oil and escaped with a shaking-up. He said he was all right and resumed play in a short time.

Perroquets scored 14 goals, lost ¾ on safety, net 13¾. Point Judith Giants scored 4, received 3 by handicap, net 7.

For Thursday two games were originally scheduled, but the Piping Rock team will not play and there will be but one, between the Meadow Brooks and the Newporters, for the Thorn challenge cup. This is the third match for this cup. The Meadow Brooks will have Mr. Foxhall Keene or Mr Harrison probably, in place of Mr. Monte Waterbury, who is not able to play. The Newporters will be the same as on Monday—Morgan and August Belmont, J. A. Rawlins and Arthur Burden. The regular Meadow Brook team is E. S. Reynal, the two Waterburys and W. G. Loew, and there should be some good work. Meadow Brook will allow 19 goals if Mr. Keene plays and there is likely to be some going.
